Seventeen Warships Turned Over To Allies At Malta

Large Portion Of Italian Fleet Is Safe With Allies

Seventeen Of Mightiest Ships Of Fleet Surrender To Allies At Malta

ESCAPE GERMAN IN SEA ENCOUNTERS

By GRAHAM B. HOVEY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 11.—A large portion of the Italian fleet, including battleships, cruisers and other naval units, surrendered today to the Allies at Malta.

The Italian men of war put in at the British bastion in the Mediterranean after making their way safely from Italian ports.

(Four battleships, seven cruisers and six destroyers were among the naval units which gave themselves up, Reuter's reported from Valletta, capital of Malta.)

The compliance of the Italian commanders with the armistice terms presented at the time of Italy's surrender marked an important new victory for the Allies and prevented the warships from falling into the hands of the Germans.

Although the communique announcing the arrival of the fleet units at Malta did not immediately disclose the size of the force it was revealed that a large part of the fleet was involved in the surrender.

The Italians, according to latest information, had at least seven battleships and two heavy cruisers, in addition to a number of lighter cruisers and destroyers.

The ports from which the Italian warships put out were not named in the initial announcement. The nearest Italian naval base to Valletta, port of Malta, is Taranto, some 350 miles by sea.

Certain other units of the Italian fleet were reported to have been turned over to the Allies at Malta.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Shell of an egg laid today by a hen belonging to Frank Peo, of box 2 Hillside, and brought to Pa. News shows a sunflower design.

The Third War Loan is being closely watched by Germany and Japan. If we do not meet the quota our failure will become a potent tool in the enemy's hands. It will become propaganda to show that the "Yanks" have "softened" after one small part of the war has been won. If we give up the top, though, Nazis and Japs will tremble and war prisoners in concentration camps and occupied countries can take new hope for their freedom.

Closing of the South Mill street bridge was not enough handicap for the bus lines operating on the Mahoningtown and Highland lines, the bus company had to contend with the first detour to get around the bridge, and another large detour had to be made yesterday because of water street resurfacing. Consequently the bus schedules were much affected during part of the day. It still seems that it would be a good idea to operate the Highland line separately from other lines.

Next Tuesday is primary election day, and from present indications there will be a light vote cast. This condition should not exist. It is the duty of all voters to go to the polls, as every election is important in the history of the nation.

ITALY'S FALL SPOTLIGHTS BALKANS

The surrender of Italy and the reported Allied occupation of those towns on the map marked with stars precipitates the Balkans into a prominent position in the kaleidoscopic war picture. Across the Adriatic Sea are Greece, Albania, and Yugoslavia (arrows), policed heavily by Nazi divisions and, until a few days ago, by Italian divisions that have been ordered to cease all acts of hostility against Anglo-American forces and to "oppose attack from any other quarter".

Severe Quake Felt In Japan

Southwestern Japan Is Reported Shaken By "Rather Severe" Shock

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Southwestern Japan was shaken by a "rather severe" earthquake last night, the Japanese Domei agency announced today.

The shock, strong enough to be felt in the industrial centers of Kobe, Osaka and Hiroshima—was said to have been concentrated in Torotori on the southwestern coast of Honshu island facing the sea of Japan.

Many houses collapsed at Torotori and rescue parties were said to be hard at work digging through the debris for possible victims. At least five fires broke out in the city and "numerous" persons were killed.

The dispatch, beamed to occupied Asia and intercepted by the Office of War Information, said that Kobe, Osaka and Hiroshima shook enough "to frighten people out of houses, though the damage was limited to articles falling from shelves."

Over 100 U-Boats And Crews Sunk

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The destruction of over 100 submarines and approximately 5,000 Nazi crew members today gave mute testimony to the effectiveness of the relentless Allied campaign against the U-boat.

The latest "victory report" of the British and United States governments revealed that more German submarines than Allied merchant ships were sunk during August. Unofficial estimate placed the number of U-boats destroyed at about 25 for the month.

Previously, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill announced that Allied forces had sunk more than 60 Axis submarines during May, June and July.

The most recent Anglo-American report on the "battle of the Atlantic" disclosed that the U-boats made virtually no effort to attack United Nations shipping in the North Atlantic last month.

Entire German Line In Southern Russia Swaying

Seizure Of Azov Sea Port Of Mariupol Jeopardizes Large Nazi Force

RETREATING GERMAN LEAVE "MUCH BOOTY"

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, Sept. 11.—Soviet forces, employing tactics used by Anglo-American troops in their sweep through Sicily, caused the entire German line in southern Russia to sway uncertainly today. The Russians seized the vital Azov sea port of Mariupol, southern anchor of the German line in Russia. In accomplishing this feat, the Soviet forces employed for the first time the "hedge-hopping" procedure of landing from the sea behind the enemy's position.

Cossacks Are Aided
Hard-riding Cossacks from the Don basin were aided in their frontal assault on the vital base, 65 miles west of recently liberated Taganrog, by amphibious and airborne Soviet units.

As the Cossacks drove on the city from the east, landing assault troops surged ashore from the sea, causing the German defenders to retreat to relative safety. Similar tactics developed by American, English and Canadian troops under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had (Continued on Page Two)

Governor Appeals To Pennsylvanians To Go To Polls On Tuesday

DUTY OF ALL TO SHARE BALLOTING

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Gov. Edward Martin today urged voters to go to the polls next Tuesday as the off-year primary election campaign drew towards a close.

"Our boys are dying on all the far flung battlefronts to retain our right of free ballot," he asserted. "Here at home we ought to be particularly careful to exercise that right."

The chief executive said he was not supporting any faction in the Republican primary, although an organization slate is being contested by an insurgent group in Allegheny county. The governor's attempts to achieve harmony had earlier failed.

Miss America To Be Named Tonight

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 11.—The Miss America beauty, health and talent pageant ends tonight when a "Miss America-1943" will be selected from the cream of the nation's talent and loveliness.

Joan Hylford, 18-year-old skating star, took first place last night in the talent division of the final preliminaries as Miss Cincinnati. First place in the bathing suit division for the evening was awarded to Miss California, Jean Bartel, 19, of Los Angeles. Miss Bartel won first honors in the talent division of Wednesday and is a leading favorite to win the final prize.

STOCKHOLM REPORT SAYS ITALIAN KING IS NOW IN SICILY

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 11.—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and his queen have arrived in Sicily, according to a dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet which was relayed to London today.

The king is believed to have gone to Palermo, which will be the seat of the Italian government, the dispatch said. High military officials already are said to be gathering at Palermo, it was added.

Reuter's carried a dispatch from Allied headquarters in North Africa stating the king still was in Rome and continued to reign as king.

Parade And Ceremonies At Stadium Mark Official Opening Of Big Campaign

New Castle's part of the Third War Bond campaign was formally opened Friday night September 11 when a bond rally was held at Taggart Stadium between the halves of the New Castle-Grove City football game. Perfect weather, a crowd of over 8000 and a genuine spirit of enthusiasm marked the opening. If the spirit of the evening is any criterion, the campaign is well on its way.

Preceding the rally at the stadium was a military parade which started from the Legion Home on North Jefferson street at 7:30 o'clock.

Snappy Parade

It was not a long parade but a colorful one, composed of military units. Headed by city police and the senior high school band, the lineup was as follows: Captain Charles R. Campaign For Primary Now Nearing Close

Candidates For City And County Offices To Be Named On Tuesday

LIST OF CANDIDATES IS RATHER SMALL

Save for last minute flurries which may occur over the week end, the campaign for the primary election which will be held on Tuesday, September 14, will be nearly over tonight. Marked by lack of much public interest or enthusiasm the indications for Tuesday, seem to point to a tight vote.

The ballot will be distinguished for the few candidates running for nominations. Three offices, county treasurer, probatory and clerk of courts, have but one candidate each, these on the Republican ticket, with no candidates filed on the Democrat ticket.

The polls will open on Tuesday morning at seven o'clock and will remain open until 8 o'clock Tuesday night. One state wide office is being voted, that of judge of superior court for which Attorney General Claude T. Reno of Allentown is the Republican candidate, and the Democratic candidate is Curtis Bok of Philadelphia.

Local Candidates

The ballot which the voter will receive will show the following office candidates:
Probatory and clerk of courts, John A. Edgar, Republican; no Democrat candidate.
County controller, Andrew M. Dodge, Republican; no Democrat candidate.

Report Invasion Forces At Brindisi

(International News Service)
STOCKHOLM, Sept. 11.—Allied invasion forces were disembarking today from a fleet of transports near Brindisi, on the east coast of Italy.

The report was contained in a Berne dispatch to the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet which said that the troops went ashore from a convoy earlier reported heading through the Ionian sea toward Albania.

Brindisi is a port on the heel of the Italian boot situated about 40 air miles northeast of the naval base of Taranto which already is in British hands.

STATE "BACKS ATTACK"

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—The commonwealth today was "backing the attack" with the purchase of $47,500,000 in bonds in support of the third war loan drive.

Gov. Edward Martin declared that "I have recommended that the credit for the purchase of these bonds be distributed among the counties in proportion to their quotas."

BERLIN ANNOUNCES SEIZURE OF ROME

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Allied and German armies engaged today in a race for strategic positions for the battle of Italy.

With American and British forces rapidly over-running the southern portion of the Italian mainland to seize important points for continued operations, the Nazis bolstered their defenses throughout the north and it appeared that the German high command might order a firm stand in the vicinity of Rome.

Inroads At Naples

The American fifth army and British units under command of Gen. Mark W. Clark made deep inroads against the Germans in the Naples area and Britain's eighth army swept northward along both sides of the toe of the Italian boot.

On the west the British were in control as far north as Pizzo and on the other side of the Calabrian peninsula moved above Monasterace Marina. Northeast, under the arch of the foot, fresh British forces took over the naval base of Taranto from where the drive along the east coast could be speeded.

German troops moved into strategic positions in the north and army announcements claimed the occupation of numerous large cities above and below the Po river line.

Nazis Occupy Towns

The Nazi agency DNE asserted that German troops in the north, reportedly under command of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, had occupied (Continued on Page Two)

Capture Of Salerno, Italian Port, Is Also Reported By Allies

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Foreign Editor

Close to a quarter million tons of first-class Italian warships came into Allied hands today and so did Salerno, picturesque on the Tyrrhenian Sea 35 miles south of Naples.

The Italian vessels, seventeen of them ranging from 30,000-ton warships down to tiny Corvettes, steamed into the harbor of Valletta on the island of Malta and surrendered unconditionally under terms of the armistice signed by Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

American and British ground troops stormed ahead against often stubborn German resistance on the mainland of Italy, fanning out to the north for the major battle soon expected. But for drama and poetic vindication the Italian fleet stole the show. No greater tribute could have been paid the people of Malta, who stood steadfast under 3,000 Axis bombings. For three years they garrisoned the sole pin-point of Allied strength in the western Mediterranean.

Four battleships, seven cruisers and numerous small craft cleared from Italian harbors, ostensibly for maneuvers, and then streaked head-long for their destination. The German air force spotted the fleeing craft and throughout the long journey plastered them constantly.

One battleship was sunk, but the others came through.

In the later stages of the journey, when the ships reached that sanctuary where Allied ships and planes control the sea and air. British Beaufighters soared out to chase the Nazis away and formed an air cover. A short while afterwards, the British navy picked up the fleet it had tried so long and unsuccessfully to engage in major combat.

VALETTA, Malta, Sept. 11.—Seventeen ships of the Italian navy arrived in port at Valletta last night and early this morning. They have surrendered unconditionally under the armistice terms concluded with the Allies on September 8.

One flotilla, which sailed from Taranto, dropped anchor off Valletta at 6 o'clock last evening. A second flotilla from Spezia arrived this morning.

In the Taranto flotilla are included the two giant battleships Doria and Giulio, two cruisers, Cardona and Magno, and several destroyers.

The Spezia contingent comprises two battleships, Eugenia Di Savoia and a second battleship whose name is not yet known; five unnamed cruisers and several destroyers.

Warns Canadians Hard War Coming

(International News Service)
OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—Canadians redoubled their efforts today following last night's frank broadcast by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, in which he warned that much unrelenting fighting, hard work and even privation remained before total victory.

While he started with a note of cheer, telling of recent Allied victories, the Dominion chief left no doubt in the minds of his listeners that the present was not the time to rest on laurels. He also gave a clear picture of the unification of fighting on home fronts, which modern warfare has made necessary.

Army Emergency Relief To Benefit From Showing Here Of "This Is The Army"

On Thursday night, September 16, at 8:30 the curtain will rise here on probably the greatest film this year. "This Is The Army", written and produced by Irving Berlin, is a worthy successor to the show he produced for the soldiers back in 1918.

Mr. Berlin wrote and produced the show in the spring of 1942 at Camp Upton, L. I. By coming the army camps from coast to coast he located a cast of 350 soldiers accomplished in every phase of the show business. The stage version opened in New York where it ran for four weeks, and could be running yet. However, a nationwide tour had been arranged. This trip started in Washington, D. C., and ended in San Francisco. In every city was a complete sellout and the Army Emergency Relief benefited to the tune of $2,000,000.

Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. Gladys McClurg, Mrs. Hilda Shifflet and Mrs. Mildred Giering. Mrs. G. S. Filer and Mrs. G. A. Black were aides to the hostess.

September 24, Mrs. Roy Nelson of South Ray street will be hostess.

Firemen's Auxiliary

Members of the Shenango Firemen's Auxiliary held a corn and wiener roast at the fire station at 8 o'clock with quite a few people in attendance.

After the tasty meal an informal period was held with games and chat as the diversions.

In charge of the social arrangements were Mrs. Ruth Dean, Mrs. A. Brown and Mrs. Doffer.

Stephenson Circle

Members of the Stephenson Circle, First Methodist church, met in the home of Mrs. J. Will Neff, 419 Moody avenue, Thursday evening.

The new study book, "We Who Are America" was started with Mrs. J. H. Templeton in charge. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. A. Simler's group.

Tigers Auxiliary

Members of the Tigers Auxiliary will have their meeting Monday evening in the Unione Calabro club, Division street, hostesses to be Mrs. Nick Sansosti, Mrs. Louis Pagley and Mrs. Felix Mele.

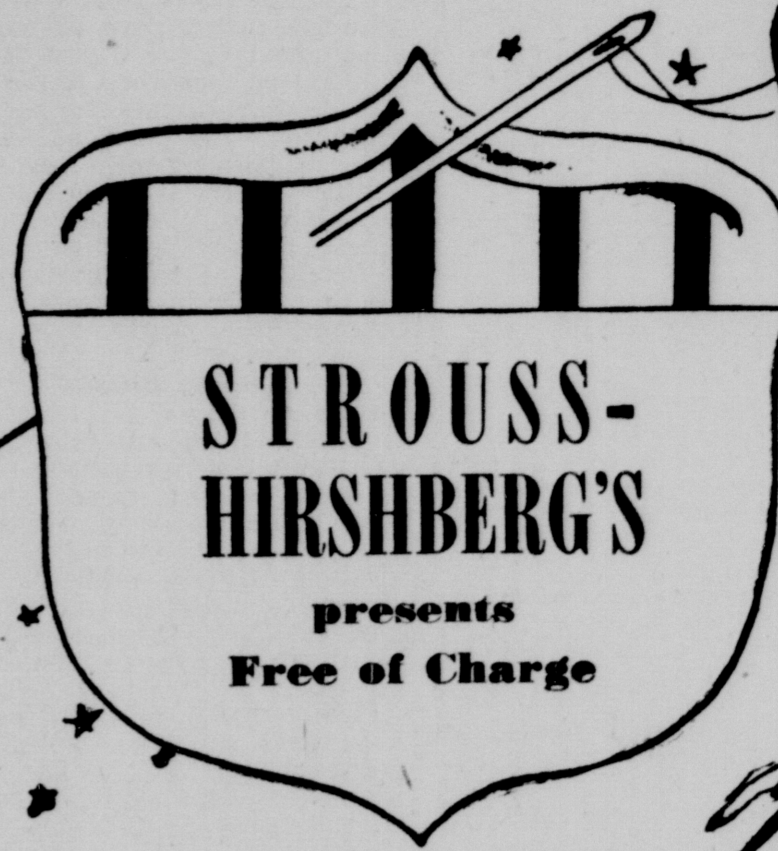

True Blue Class

True Blue class, Third United Presbyterian church, will have a hamburger fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Book, Ellwood road, Monday evening. Families will be guests.

Butler Girls To Meet

Members of the Butler Girls club will meet Friday at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. J. L. Ringer, 623 South Ray street.

L. C. (ELSIE) MANTZ
REPUBLICAN FOR CITY TREASURER

There's no better way to judge a man than to watch him in action. Twenty-eight years ago friends of L. Claude Mantz, having faith in his ability to do things, secured his appointment as Alderman in the Fourth Ward, which office he has since held. During his tenure of office, hundreds of cases, both civil and criminal, many those of a civil nature involving sums of money, have been adjudicated by him with justice and fairness. Money coming through his office, which entailed a certain amount of bookkeeping, has been paid to the individuals to whom it was due and in many cases where fines were involved, to the various departments of the County, City and Commonwealth. Mr. Mantz has assisted hundreds in filing their income tax reports. We know he has the ability to conduct the office of City Treasurer in an efficient way and recommend him as a trustworthy, courteous, qualified and loyal man, deserving of your support in the primary election Tuesday, Sept. 14.

WE MUST PROVIDE THE POWER

IN HIS STIRRING SPEECH before the third War Loan drive, President Roosevelt emphasized a special point that every American should clearly understand. It is that we must all do more than put our normal savings into War Bonds. We must save more than usual and invest our extra savings to make this latest drive a 100 per cent success.

This will mean more self-denial, if not more actual self-sacrifice. But what are our brave soldiers doing? They are daily enduring hardships and dangers with which any mere financial sacrifice on the part of stay-at-homes cannot be compared for a moment.

"We are determined," says the President, "to provide our troops with overpowering superiority of arms, both in quantity and quality. This overwhelming superiority is imperative for dealing the knock-out blow to the enemy."

But the power, to be transmitted to our men on today's critical fighting fronts, can come only from the dollars we lend and give. In a true sense, victory starts right here at home.

In this War Bond campaign it's the "extra" that is going to count. There must be extra investments on top of the money we've been regularly putting into War Bonds and there must be extra purchasers, those who have never bought a War Bond before.

For, strange to say, there are Americans who, for one reason or another, have never yet rallied to their Government's financial support. This vote of confidence is our courageous defenders, this "personal message of defiance to our common enemies," as Mr. Roosevelt calls it, must be unanimous, with no loyal citizen left out.

How many of us can say we have yet done our full part? Now is the time to prove our patriotism with our dollars, not words, with dollars that will help to shorten the war and make our triumph sure.

ANOTHER FRONTIER

Canada is looking forward to a postwar boom that will attract new population—some of it from the British Empire and some from the United States. The Dominion, with little more than 10,000,000 people, is one of the greatly underpopulated countries in proportion to its resources and Canada plans to remedy that through the great flow of peoples expected to begin at the end of the war.

Canada expects to attract money through its gold, silver, copper, nickel, timber and other raw materials which are the bases of industry. There are 16,000,000 acres of soil to be cleared, plowed and planted. This is covered with virgin and cut-over forests but capable of producing crops rivaling those of the United States in yield.

The Dominion has completed its first trans-Canadian highway. The highway to Alaska will be available for civilian travel after the war. These will open districts of heavy potentialities for wealth production. Other highways and some new railways are planned. Canada is determined to win a greater place in the sun. The Dominion comprises one more, perhaps the last, frontier.

GLOBAL DRUGGIST

That America is the arsenal of democracy requires no elaboration. But America as the global druggist has received less publicity. The United States, however, is in mass production of pharmaceutical materials on a grand scale and is distributing them to all of the United Nations.

This year United States manufacturers are producing 600 anti-malaria synthetic tablets for every one produced in 1939. A billion tablets of atabrine, the synthetic, will be produced in 1943, which is well above any possible needs. America is producing 10,000,000 pounds of sulfa drugs, five times the quantity produced two years ago.

These save many lives on war fronts by prevention of infection from wounds. The principal vitamins, which are important in keeping fighting men and war workers in good condition, are being turned out at a rate five times that of 1941.

Prospects of maintaining this rate of production in the next few years are bright. Manufacturers foresee a huge postwar demand for the health-giving products which will play a major role in the reconstruction of Europe and other war-devastated regions. Latin America, China, Russia and Africa are expected to provide large outlets.

REALISM TO THE FORE

Trained observers of the international scene say that a meeting of Secretary Hull, Secretary Eden and Commissar Molotov may become the most momentous diplomatic conference of this war.

They are convinced that talks at such a conference would not be confined to ideological discussions of how democracy might be firmly established in the world after the Axis has been defeated, but would revolve about realistic and practical matters such as future boundaries.

Russia has already placed herself on record with a frankness which alarms some governments-in-exile regarding her western frontiers. The Turks are concerned over publications of an article in a recent issue of the Moscow magazine, "War and the Working Class," in which Turkey is accused of delaying victory of the United Nations by her continued policy of neutrality. Published in Britain or the United States, the article would mean little.

But all newspapers and magazines in Russia present exclusively the views of the Soviet government and are used by Stalin to fire an occasional shot across the bow. The independence of Turkey and the brilliant successes of Kemal Pasha were made possible in the darkest hours of Turkey's history by support in money and war material from Moscow. But after the Turkish republic became well established her relations with Russia were not always entirely satisfactory to Stalin.

Kemal and his lieutenants were nationalists and hated the communist international dogma. Turkey is scared by the possibility that Stalin will demand the Dardanelles as an outlet for foreign commerce.

For the first time in its 82-year history, Kansas will levy no property tax in 1944, proving the taxpayer does get a break if he lives long enough.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUPERVISE YOUNG CHILD

Many children, especially tots, need more supervision than they get, illustrated by the following letter.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—I have two little boys, one 6 years old and the other about 4. The 6 year old one hardly ever causes me any trouble, but the little one is always into something. He plays out around the neighborhood with a little girl a little younger than he is. What those two don't get into isn't worth mentioning. They get into everything. Into people's trash, taking up people's shoes they have put down, digging holes where they aren't supposed to.

Scared Himself
"The other day even hung on to a milk truck, the little girl let go, but my little boy hung on, scared to death, and the driver was, too, when he heard him screaming. Now that the scare is over, he would probably try it again. I have spanked him, put him to bed, kept him in the house, scolded him, tried talking nice to him but to no avail.

"Every time I go out, people always have some tale about some mischievous thing he does; not bad, but he just can't leave things alone. In the house he gets into things too.

"Can you help me with my problem? A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

Here is how I answered the mother:

More Supervision Needed
If you wish to bring up that tot as a good citizen, you will have to supervise him more closely. You should not have this youngster out of your sight until you have established effective control over him. You never from one mode of treatment to another. Have a definite plan and follow it to the letter.

Let less important things go—and all else is less important—till you have trained him to respect your directions. Until then, always be right with him when he is out of doors. Do not allow him to go off your premises except when you or some other dependable person can supervise him adequately.

Be Consistent

Make clear to him the boundaries beyond which he must not go. The moment he does, paddle him soundly right then and there. Continuing this treatment consistently until he will venture once over the line. After he has gone off and got into trouble it is too late for punishment to be effective. Please study and follow the enclosed bulletin "How to Teach Tot Behavior."

When after this training has been accomplished, keep checking on him. Attract his little playmate to your home, with her mother's permission, and supervise them then also. Go with him to her home. But to let (Continued on Page Seven)

THE WILL TO WIN

The faint and frightened early quit the fray.

"Why longer fight?" they are the first to say.

"Why bear another blow and suffer pain?"

Why try once more when everything is vain?

The cause is lost! 'Tis folly to press on.

Men cannot fight when hope and strength are gone."

No thought perhaps discouraged is the foe.

No thought he, too, may dread another blow.

No resolution firm to try once more.

No keeping on until the struggle's o'er.

Just giving up and stopping then and there.

Accepting failure still with strength to spare!

Defeat is of the spirit and the will.

When they give up, then vain are strength and skill.

When they desert all hope of victory's gone.

Only the stout of heart against the odds fight on.

Battered and bruised, fatigued and body sore.

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

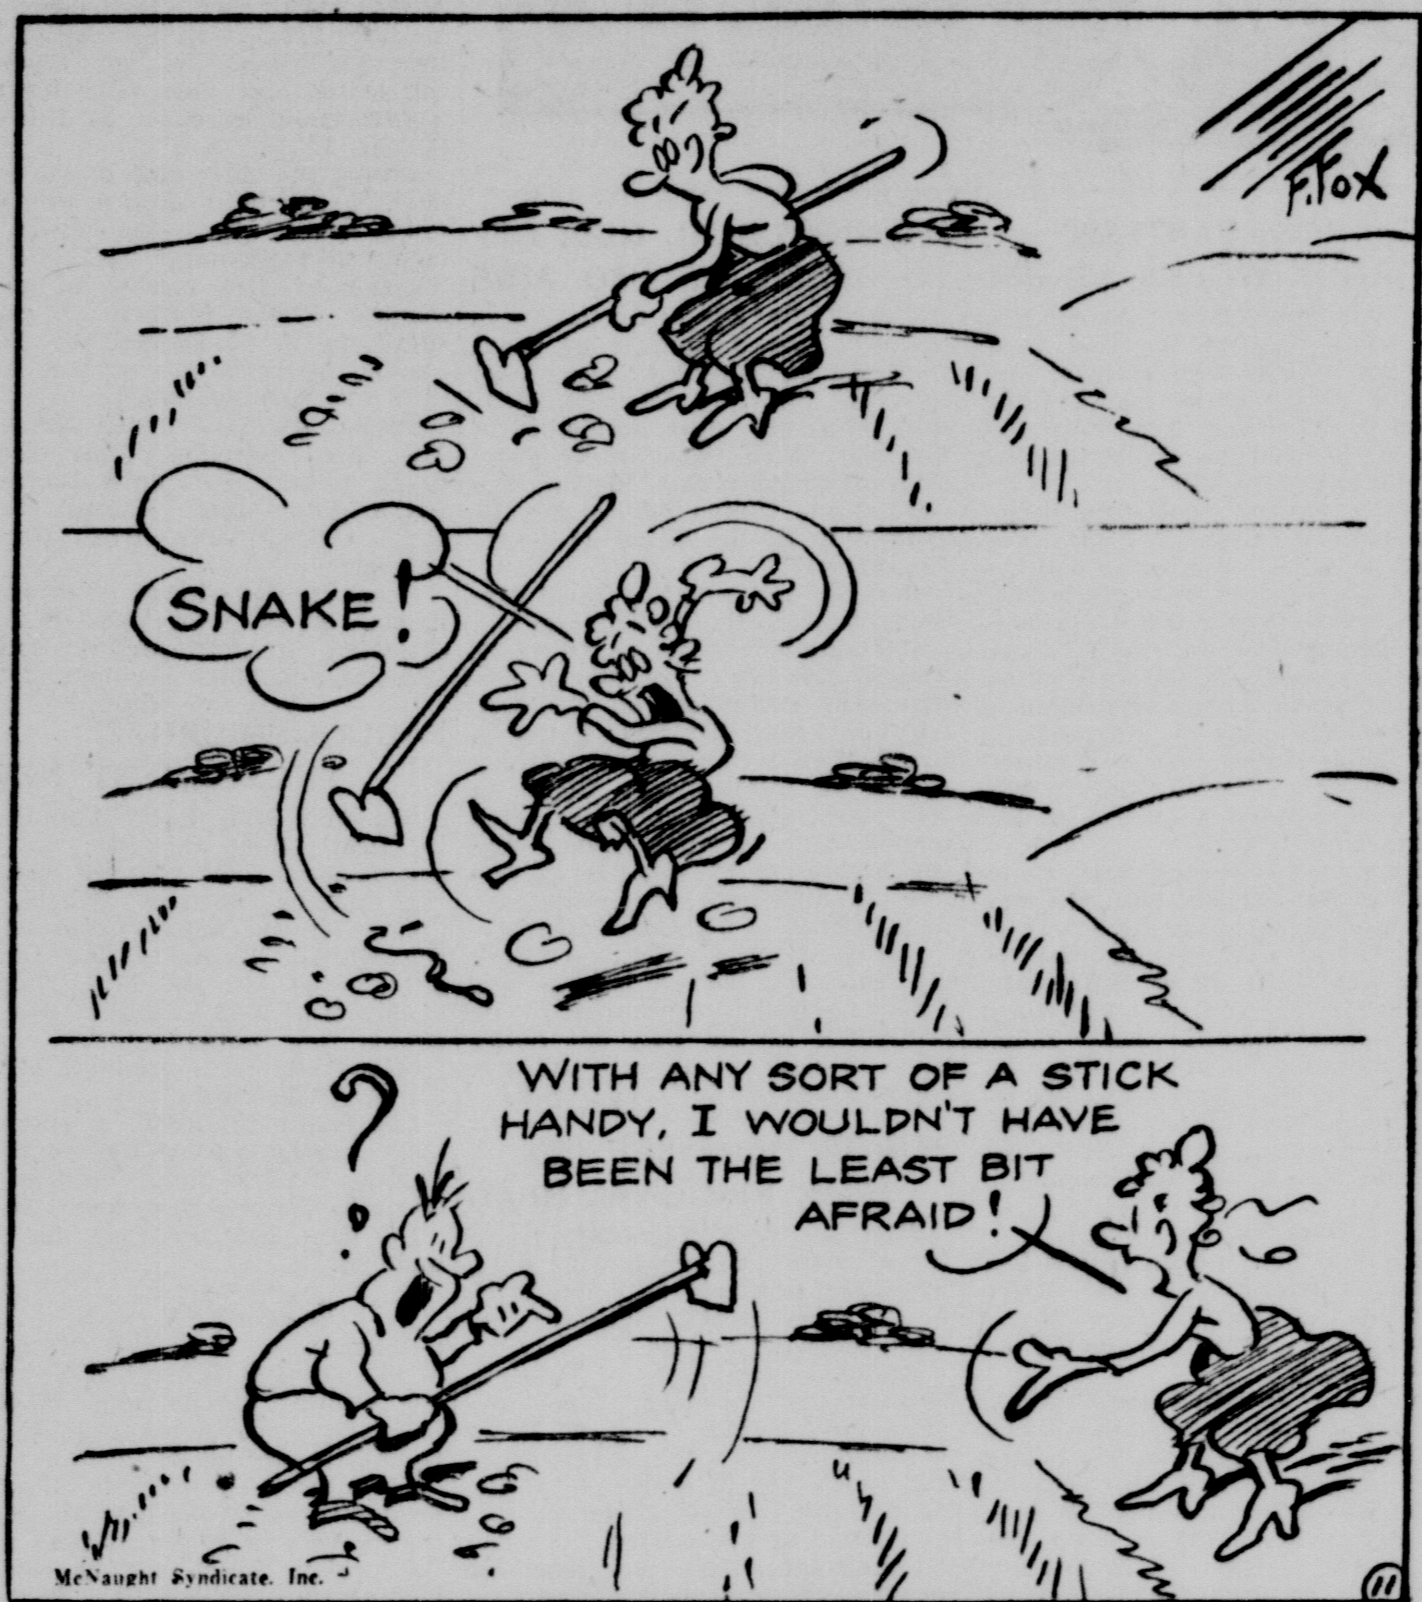

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

Only the brave will venture one blow more.

Pennsylvania's turkey crop is the largest in the state's history, this year, but civilians must wait until October 1 before they can buy any of them. We can get along without turkeys if the soldiers want them.

The safest place now is to be at home on a holiday.

There were far less deaths on Labor Day caused by auto accidents. People were working.

SORRY FOR "PROF"

Prof: "If there are any dumbbells in the room, please stand up."

A long pause, then a lone freshman stood up.

Prof: "What! Do you consider yourself a dumbbell?"

Freshman: "Well, not exactly that, sir, but I hate to see you standing all alone."

A fun maker fixed up this sign in a night club: "In case of an air raid, crawl under the slot machine. The jackpot hasn't been hit for five years."

A woman indignantly approached an official of her rationing board, and said: "Does the number 7 coupon in a sugar rationing book mean a 'bonus' of two extra pounds of sugar for the holder?"

"It does, madam," informed the official.

"Then I wish to make a complaint against my grocer," snapped the lady. "He charged me for them."

The worst statements now are conflicting statements and there are plenty of them to confuse the people.

The noblest vengeance is to forgive.

"Sorry, old man, that my hen got loose and scratched up your garden."

"That's all right, my dog ate your hen."

"Fine! I just ran over your dog and killed him."

"Porter, get me another glass of ice water." "Sorry, sub, but if I take any more ice, dat corpse in the baggage car ain't goin' to keep."

A man without money is like a bow without an arrow.

Hubby (in early morning—"It must be time to get up."

Wife—"Why?"

Hubby—"The baby has fallen asleep."

It is a fraud to borrow what we are not able to repay.

Into the mouth of a bad dog falls many a good bone.

But you can still find little towns where a man can't ask a married woman to have a coke with him without starting talk.

There seems to be a lot of junk still lying around in this country. A trip over the country roads will show that.

A local bird said he misses the cuffs on his trousers, and so do the dimes he drops.

A motorist was helping his extremely fat victim to rise. "Couldn't you have gone around me?" groaned the victim.

"Sorry," said the motorist sadly, "but I wasn't sure I had enough gasoline."

TROUBLESOME TRIO
A celebrated lawyer once said that the three most troublesome clients he had were a young lady who wanted to be married, a married woman who wanted a divorce, and an old maid who didn't know what she wanted.

One day we hear there will be more meat and the next day we hear there will be less. Being a vegetarian is a good thing now when people raise their own vegetables.

I know that Jenks wears a toupee, but I've never heard him admit it.

"No, he keeps it under his hat."

When he has to travel to and from his office by bus the third business man may also be a tireless one.

HERE'S THE PROOF
At a little gathering in the club a man was holding out for the virtues of patience and perseverance.

"With these," he asserted, "a man can do anything."

"He can, eh?" asked another. "I suppose that he can carry water in a sieve by using patience."

"Sure he can," was the answer. "All he has to do is to wait until the water freezes."

DOMINEERING MAN
"I have just broken my engagement with a man because he continually nags service people whenever we go—arguing with waiters about check kases; snapping at hat-check girls and theater ushers because they aren't quick enough; grousing at taxi-drivers because they don't 'step on it' etc., etc. Do you think I should take him back and trust to his reforming?"—Ex-fiancee.

Answer: Not if you still believe that there are better fish in the sea than have ever been caught. Such faults are usually deeply ingrained. They generally characterize men to whom service is a novelty because they have not enjoyed it during childhood and poverty throughout which they have looked with envy upon friends who have suddenly acquired riches and become able to bully the underprivileged. Your former fiance sounds to me very like a man who has suddenly acquired a travelling account and is enjoying the novelty of spending the firm's money. I would say that he can be cured only by a shock that will fill him with fear that he may become as poor and lowly as those over whom he tyrannizes.

Question: A young man from out of town is soon to visit his home. Should I specify in my invitation to him how long his visit should extend or should I leave this to his discretion? Since he will be my guest, should I pay for the meals we eat out, also any other expenses, such as taxicab bills, which might be incurred while we are out together?—Mary.

Answer: You should specify the length of his visit. Say, in your letter, "Come down and stay for a week, ten days or two weeks" whatever length of time you wish to have him. You might also tell him to bring his food ration books along with him! He will then know that when his visit has terminated he should leave, unless urged by you to remain longer.

He should eat his meals in your home, except on the occasions when he invites you to dine with him in a restaurant or a hotel. In such cases the expenses are his and definitely not yours. The taxicab bill should also be paid by him. You are entertaining him at your home; therefore, he should take you out occasionally at his own expense.

WRAP VS. DARN
"Wifie, dear, why haven't you mended these socks?"

"Hubby, darling, do you buy me that coat for Christmas, as you promised?"

"No, if you don't give a wrap. I don't give a darn."

He who spends more than he should, shall not have to spend when he would.

"Bring me another sandwich, please."

"Yes, there be anything else, sir?"

"Yes, a paper weight. The other sandwich blew away."

A Gallup poll shows that people desire little change after the war. Don't worry; you'll have little.

THE IDEA THAT pretty men are sissies was started by the rest of us to ease our envy.

PRACTICALLY UNIQUE
The woman was "rked at the persistent clerk in the store."

"I tell you again for the tenth time that there is absolutely nothing I want," she said.

"How happy your husband must be," replied the clerk. "You are a woman in 100 million."

"You didn't carry out your plans to elope?"

"No, I found father was planning to move, and I didn't know where to find him when we got back."

The choice seems clear—inspectors in Germany and Japan from now on, and a police force handy, or let them learn for another try. Which do you prefer?

Post Office Department
May Extend Zone System
Corn Diverting Faces Difficulties

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—You can look for an extension of the post office department's zoning system for distributing mail. It already has been placed in operation in nearly 125 major cities and is working out extremely well.

The zoning system, you recall, is a plan under which letters carry a zone number in addition to the usual address. In Indianapolis 5, Ind.; Chicago, 10, Ill.; Cleveland 18, O.; Washington, 20, D. C.

Despite expected difficulty in getting the public to change its letter-addressing habits and the trouble business firms and others have in learning the zone numbers of a majority of letters coming through have the numbers included.

Post office officials haven't any specific figures, but they are sure that the new system has resulted in considerable saving of time for postal clerks—especially new clerks brought in because of war conditions who aren't familiar with street addresses.

The proposal of Senator George Aiken (R) of Vermont to requisition one-sixth (20,000,000 tons) of this year's corn harvest for the dairy farmer probably will receive short shrift at the agricultural department.

Although Aiken warns that milk production probably will be "extremely tight" during the winter and spring, a department spokesman intimated that requisitioning of corn might be okay—but there just isn't any transportation to haul the grain to shortage areas.

This may mean that civilians will be faced with a shortage of milk and possible rationing despite OPA's frowns. In any event, the eastern dairy farmers may not have enough feed grain in the coming months.

Insiders in Washington say that the principal reason now for keeping sugar on the ration list is to keep the product out of the hands of illicit alcohol distillers who seek to take advantage of the shortage of whiskey.

All of the nation's distilleries long since have been converted to the manufacture of industrial alcohol for war purposes. Whiskey supplies are declining, however, and federal officials fear an outbreak of illicit operations, if the bars are let down.

Sugar importations are up, however. By Aug. 21 of this year, the United States had bought in 2,422,000 tons of sugar, approximately 684,000 tons more than had been imported in the same period in 1942.

That was no gangster war going on in the treasury's basement here these past months. It was only the lady guards practicing on the rifle range.

The war has hit the treasury's manpower, too, and seven women were hired to replace male guards who were inducted into the armed forces.

Five of them now are qualified to wear that "38" on the hip and to hit the bull's eye. The other two are determined to pass all the tests and become "gun gals," too.

ON THE question of when the war will end, the higher and more informed the authority the less the belief that the end will come in 1943 or in 1944. The men, both British and American, whose position entitles them to the best judgment say that while they do not altogether rule out the possibility of a psychological German collapse, it would be a great mistake to take that possibility into their calculations and it is not being done. They point out further that the Germans have not far from 300 unbeaten divisions of highly trained, perfectly equipped and thoroughly exhausted troops.

and the Mud Puddles

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.
A riot in front of a milk company in a Detroit suburb recently resulted in injuries to six men, three of them officers. After the officers were injured, they opened fire and the rioters were shot.

This riot was not caused by an exploiting employer, seeking to deprive working men of their rights. It started when four truckloads of C. I. O. hoodlums unloaded and attacked A. F. of L. pickets around the plant. The pickets were there because the A. F. of L. objected to the company signing a contract with the C. I. O. The company, it appears, was caught between two fires. Certainly it was not antagonistic to union labor. It had once had a contract with the A. F. of L. but, upon its expiration, signed a closed shop agreement with the C. I. O.

The dispute between the two unions was over the question of jurisdiction, of course, but that didn't help the company or its patrons. Presumably, had the company continued its A. F. of L. contract, the result would have been the same. It was simply a fight between two opposing forces who care nothing for the rights of the employer, or the public which he tries to serve. And we are urged by union bosses and politically minded sociologists to try to understand and sympathize with these brawling hoodlums and aid them in their struggle for social gains!

And isn't Private Jones right? You read a book or a story, and most of them you forget as soon as you've read them.

Many are indigestible, a few palatable.

But a first class apple pie or a prize-winning angel food cake, that is something we can all enjoy.

The lovely odors in the baking permeate the house and cause thrills of anticipation.

Then, when the cake is cut, the bliss of eating the delectable mess.

Who wants to read a book the second time? But the second piece of cake is just as delicious as the first, and tomorrow there's another piece, just as enjoyable as the first.

I have written many thousands of words and never seen anybody smack his lips over them.

But tonight we are going to have home-made peach shortcake for dinner, a cake which, I know, will live in the literature in the world's best.

I respect authors in an awesome sort of way. I take my hat off to writers of weighty tomes and classic beauty.

But I love my wife. Her shortcake is always a best seller.

What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? But now being made free from sin... ye have your fruit unto holiness.—Rom. 6:21, 22.

WOMAN TO FACE TRIAL FOR DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Waynesburg, Pa., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Nancy Jeanette Holt, 29-year-old beauty from Frederick, Okla., today faced trial in connection with the alleged poison death of her husband, Jesse, 33, a former tractor operator on the "Big Inch" pipeline.

A grand jury yesterday handed down a true bill against Mrs. Holt and the court set September 27 for the trial date.

James E. Sherwood was appointed assistant district attorney to prosecute the case in the absence of District Attorney A. M. Nichols, who is ill.

Fugitive Soldier Says He Escaped To Secure Lawyer

(International News Service) LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—Pvt. George P. Rimke, under life prison sentence for attacking Film Actress Lina Basquette, was on his way back to March field early today after giving himself up voluntarily to S. S. Hahn, noted Los Angeles attorney.

Rimke escaped from the stockade at March field Thursday night and had been at liberty since despite a wide search of the area by military and civil authorities.

"I went AWOL for the sole purpose of getting to Los Angeles and getting a lawyer," he declared last night at Attorney Hahn's home.

"I didn't get a square deal at my trial. I am guilty of stealing Miss Basquette's car but I absolutely did not attack her."

"I am willing to take punishment for what I did but not for what I didn't do," he declared.

Rimke appeared at Attorney Hahn's office late yesterday and told his story.

Hahn, after hearing Rimke's story, declared that he would do everything in his power to get a new trial for Rimke.

In the Naples area, troops of the United States Fifth Army were locked in combat with stubborn enemy forces, but steady progress was made inland and the original bridgeheads on the Tyrrhenian Sea solidified.

Stiff Fighting For Yanks

Officials at Allied headquarters disclosed that British troops landing in the Naples area encountered comparatively little opposition until Nazi counterattacks with tanks developed later on the shore. American troops, on the other hand, ran into stiff fighting the moment they landed on the beaches.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army skillfully mastered the bridgeheads, however, and cracked up every subsequent counterattack with the aid of naval artillery fire, as was the case at Gela, the first point taken by American troops on the south coast of Sicily.

Two hundred German prisoners were captured in the initial fighting at Naples.

Nazis Fail In Defense

There was every indication the Germans were fully prepared for the Naples thrust, but were utterly incapable of smashing the Allied onslaught.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth Army meanwhile continued to knock the props out from under German defenses in southern Italy. The veteran British troops swept northward a total of 35 miles and in some areas were reported to be overhauling the retreating Nazis.

Latest dispatches placed the British just south of Lamezia and Marina De Badolato on the gulf of Squillace, on the eastern coast.

Heavy German withdrawals were reported between Lago Negro and Auletto north of Sapri on the west coast gulf of Policastro. The Allied air force plunged into attack against the retreating enemy, ripping into ground traffic everywhere as Flying Fortresses battered railway lines, roads and bridges in the Ariano region 50 miles northeast of Naples.

Other bombers blasted the region of Isernia and the Tiber river bridge at Vinchiaturo, nine miles to the west. American Mitchell bombers hit road junctions at Cassino northwest of Naples and Casanova to the east.

The population of Taranto, the chief naval base in southern Italy, welcomed British troops which occupied the harbor and town.

Mrs. B. P. Russler, of 712 Cleveland avenue, was thrilled Friday evening when she recognized her brother, Lt. Com. R. S. Widmeyer, surgeon in the Naval Medical Reserve, shown in the picture "Island 43", at a local theater.

Mrs. Russler states that her brother is shown twice in the picture, first operating on one of our service men, and the second time he is sitting at a patient's bedside in the hospital, making observations. She was not so sure of him in the first picture, as he wore a mask.

Lieut. Com. Widmeyer was on this island from August, 1942, to February this year. He is now in charge of a new naval hospital at Sanford, Fla.

Purple Heart Given Pfc. J. Smolkowicz

Also Awarded Silver Star and Four Citations For Actions in North Africa

Word has been received by Henry Smolkowicz, of Hanna street, Rigby, by Post Office from the secretary of war, Washington, D. C., stating that his son, Private First Class John M. Smolkowicz, infantry, has been awarded posthumously, the Purple Heart Medal, the letter follows:

"My Dear Mr. Smolkowicz: You will shortly receive the Purple Heart Medal, which has been posthumously awarded by direction of the President to your son, Private First Class John M. Smolkowicz, infantry. It is sent as a tangible expression of the country's gratitude for his gallantry and devotion.

It is sent to you, as well, with my deepest personal sympathy for your bereavement. The loss of a loved one is beyond man's repairing and the medal is of slight value; not so, however, the message it carries. We are all comrades in arms in this battle for our country, and those who have gone are not, and never will be, forgotten by those of us who remain. I hope you will accept the medal in evidence of such remembrance.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY L. STIMSON."

P. F. C. Smolkowicz was killed in action in Sicily, July 19. He had been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry, and received four citations for actions in North Africa.

To Speak About Liquor Situation
Rev. W. A. Thornton To Address Conference In Christian Church Sept. 26

Rev. W. A. Thornton, minister of Epworth Methodist church, will bring a message on liquor conditions in New Castle and Lawrence county, and what can be done about them, at a joint adult, administrative and temperance conference to be held at the First Christian church, this city, Sunday afternoon, September 26, at 2:30.

There will also be an "information please" discussion period, and Rev. A. M. Stevenson, minister of the First Presbyterian church of Ellwood City, will have charge of this period assisted by some other qualified "experts".

Pertinent questions are being prepared at the present time, and will be submitted to the conference. Any one present may call for a discussion of one of the numbered questions, or ask a question of his own for discussion.

HOMEROOD CHURCH PLANS HOMECOMING
Members and friends of Home-wood Methodist church will have homecoming services on Sunday, September 12, with Sunday school at 2 p. m. and preaching at 3 p. m. Dr. John D. Van Horn, D. S., will be the speaker.

Rev. William Ralph Winton is pastor of the church.

Anniversary Of Lutheran Council

Several Lutheran Churches In City Are Members Of National Council

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Born during the first World War as an agency to meet emergency conditions in the church, and now again engaged in war emergency work, the National Lutheran Council is observing its silver anniversary during the week of September 6.

Through direction of extensive relief distributions after the last war among the stricken Lutheran churches of Europe and interim support of their "war-orphaned" mission fields throughout the world, the council was instrumental in the organization in 1923 of the Lutheran world convention, in which church bodies of 22 countries are represented.

Again confronted by similar conditions, the council, in co-operation with the Lutheran world convention and the international missionary council, is providing support for support of mission fields in many lands. Other emergency activities include operation of service and parish centers in 69 cities throughout the United States for recreation and spiritual relaxation of men and women in armed forces; providing of religious literature and supplies for hundreds of army and navy chaplains at home and overseas; development of religious and social welfare programs for 200,000 Lutherans in defense housing areas; support of work among refugees and war prisoners, and distribution of Bibles in foreign lands.

To finance these special causes during the current year, American Lutheran congregations have contributed about $1,000,000 in cash to Lutheran world action.

St. Paul's, St. John's, Bethany and the Finnish Lutheran churches of this city are members of the National Lutheran Council.

To The DEMOCRATIC VOTERS of LAWRENCE COUNTY

I am a candidate for the office of County Commissioner at the coming primaries Sept. 14, 1943. I have tried to contact all the voters possible but owing to transportation facilities I have been unable to see all that I would like to have seen. Those that I could not contact I have mailed circulars to them. I was your Nominee for County Treasurer in 1935 but was defeated in the general election by the Republican candidate by a small majority. There were only 7400 registered Democrats at that time yet I polled 9280 votes. When it became necessary to appoint a Treasurer for the unexpired term, for some reason I was not considered for the appointment which I think was a reflection on me and also on the party but I still stayed with the party. Now I am asking for your vote again and I hope you still have the same confidence in me you had in 1935. My only promise to the voters is that I will do all in my power to see that the office is run efficiently and honestly, recognizing that the office belongs to the people and that the commissioners are only the custodians, so to speak. If nominated and elected I do not promise any revelation in the office whatever, but will do my best which is all anyone can do. Thanking you in advance for any support or influence you may give, I am,

YOURS VERY TRULY,

him run wild as you have is unfair to him and the community. While his playmate or playmates are there, read to them and show them how to engage in non-destructive, creative fun. This will take time to be sure, but it will be your best possible investment.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. What do you consider the greatest achievement of a pair of parents?

A. Having lived together companionably for fifty or more years. Henry Ford has said he considers this achievement with his wife greater than his phenomenal business achievement.

Q. Should boys from 5 to 15 help about the house?

A. Of course. My special bulletin on "Teaching Child to Help at Home" may be had in the usual way, for postage.

Q. If your child at four years of age or ten chose to use the left hand would you try to change his handedness?

A. If I were sure never to annoy him in doing so, gentle efforts at persuasion might properly be used. But in as much as one would hardly stop at suggestion or persuasion, it would be safer not to tamper with the child's handedness. There is no proof, however, that shift of handedness will do any harm if it is done without any annoyance whatsoever to the child.

Q. Please name an inexpensive book on sex hygiene for boys and one for girls from eleven to fourteen.

A. "Sex Hygiene for Girls," and "Sex Hygiene for Boys," to be had for 24 cents each, of School and College Service, Station B, Columbus, Ohio. You may also have a selected list of books on sex education at home by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

perished soldiers in Europe—which means they have the greatest army in Europe.

WITH THEIR Axis partners being knocked out, conquered nations revolting and friendly nations falling away from them, and all the while pounded from the air, the Germans ultimately can be driven back into their own central fortress. But—and this is the point they emphasize—through 1943 and 1944, the Germans will be still capable not only of formidable resistance but of a formidable counter-offensive. Even when driven back into that central fortress, there will remain with them the power of a "leopard leap" out of the cage, which perhaps, would not change the inevitability of victory, but surely would postpone it and increase its cost.

AS TO THE sort of "second front" demanded by the Russians, that will come, but it will come when we are ready for it and not before. The Italian collapse brings us closer, of course, but wars are won, said one very high authority, by doing wise things, not foolish things. And it is infinitely better for us all—Russia as well as the British and ourselves—to win what, mistakenly, may seem to some a series of small, selfish victories than to indulge in one great and generous defeat. In brief, the men who are running this war for us and for the British, confident as they are of the inevitable victory, are not making the mistake of minimizing the power of the enemy and do not intend to be prodded into the doing the foolish thing that might greatly prolong the war and add terribly to its cost.

WILLING to take every justifiable risk and to pay any reasonable price, they do not propose, flushed with recent successes, to take unjustifiable risks or be pushed into paying a devastating price. It is a fortunate thing that the military side is in the hands of men capable of making this kind of decision and sticking to it. Under existing conditions, that is the great basic fact that makes victory inevitable—unless we suddenly let down or let up. In this country, failure to put this pending loan over in a big way would be doing just that. Again, let it be repeated that no victory is so inevitable that it cannot be thrown among no leaders are so wise and no army so brave that they cannot be ruined in the field by governmental incompetency or by the inertia and indifference of the civilian population at home.

State Convention To Be Next Month

Lawrence County To Send Delegation To Sabbath
School Association
Meeting

Indications are that Lawrence county will have its usual good delegation at the 81st convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath school association, to be held at Juniata college, Huntingdon, October 12 to 14.

The county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., has requested some additional credential cards and convention information slips, and these will be supplied to those calling headquarters, phone 351.

Attendance at a state convention is a splendid phase of Christian education, and Sunday school superintendents are urged to have delegates appointed. In today's mail many Christian leaders in Lawrence county will receive a "program resume" mailed out by the state association, giving the names of the outstanding speakers and general information concerning the convention and entertainment. In speaking on how to reach Huntingdon, it says: "Huntingdon is 35 miles from the geographical center of the state, on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, and on route 22, William Penn Highway." Lawrence county is urging as many as possible to take automobiles, and "share the expense of the trip" by taking delegates with them for $3.75 for the round trip.

ACCIDENT KILLS SHENANGO SOLDIER

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—Private Robert Beckety, Jr., 18, of Chicago, was accidentally killed Friday when his gun discharged as he unloaded a clip of cartridges while on guard duty at the Shenango replacement depot, the camp's public relations officer reported.

The soldier died while being removed to a camp hospital. He entered service last April.

In 1931 the population of Poland increased twice as much as that of Great Britain.

THE HOME FRONT CALLS FOR PATRIOTISM ALSO

All American hopes and hearts are set upon the ultimate victory of the Allied arms. No American worthy of the name but is pointing his every effort towards that inevitable end.

In the stress of war activities we sometimes overlook some of the home front duties. Exercising your right to vote is a patriotic duty that should not be neglected.

On Tuesday, September 14th, the citizens of Lawrence County will nominate their choices for offices to be filled at the November election. This is an important primary election and it is a citizen's duty and privilege to vote.

As chairman of the Republican County Committee I urge ever Republican voter to vote next Tuesday. County committee men and women will be in the various precincts assisting voters to get to the polls. When a committee worker calls at your home won't you remember that he is doing a service and see to it that you vote and urge your family and friends to vote also?

Shippenville Has Disastrous Fire

SHIPPENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—Six buildings were fire-swept and three others seriously damaged in a fire which brought 11 fire departments from a 30-mile radius racing to the scene. Damage was put at $25,000. No person was hurt. The Shippenville Telephone company exchange was among the first to be engulfed in flames after the fire broke out either in the Sam Francisco home or the L. A. Doven-spike tailor shop. A brisk wind fanned the fire. The Elmer Brothers' general store, the Red and White Store and several homes next were fire-swept. Companies from Clarion, Knox, Strattanville, Oil City, Franklin, Emlenton, Rocky Grove, Polk, Brookville and Pine Creek town-ship responded.

Polio Epidemic Grows In Chicago

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Severity of the poliomyelitis epidemic which has been sweeping through Chicago and Cook county in the last month reached the point today where it surpassed the epidemic of 1917, health officials reported.

However, there was one encouraging note in the report, authorities pointing out that while the number of cases this year exceeded those during the last war, the number of fatalities resulting from the disease was less than one-third the toll in 1917.

The addition of 27 new cases of infantile paralysis Friday brought to 557 the number reported for Chicago alone in the current outbreak, or 11 more than the 1917 total. Fatalities, however, were only 56 compared with 187 deaths in the previous epidemic.

Totals for the county areas and Chicago up to Saturday morning were 703 cases and 70 deaths.

Suits Are Filed Against Contractors

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—The government today filed civil suits in U. S. district court against six war contractors indicted by a federal grand jury for allegedly defrauding the government by bribing six employees of the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot.

In the petitions, the government seeks a penalty of $2,000 from each of the defendants in addition to the losses incurred through the transactions.

The contractors named in the suits are Stanley L. Quinan, Philadelphia; Samuel Weiner, Littlestown, Pa.; Harry Wilberg, Asbury Park, N. J.; and Harry Hancock, Nathan Zuckerman and Max Newmark, all of New York.

REAL PUZZLER IS GIVEN O.P.A.

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Sept. 11.—The Massachusetts O.P.A. is suffering from a bad case of red tape today.
A man offered a local ration board its choice of:
1—Allowing him 125 gallons of gasoline to drive his sick wife to Florida for the winter, or
2—Acting on an application for 2500 gallons of fuel oil to keep them warm here during the winter.
The first choice, to which the O.P.A. inclines for expediency, would constitute unessential driving and is against regulations.
O.P.A. would like to cut the 2500 gallons of fuel oil from its dispersals but can't do it without breaking present regulations.
Spokesmen for the agency said the final decision in this case may constitute a ruling applicable in several similar situations.

IT'S A SACRED PRIVILEGE AND A CIVIC DUTY TO VOTE, DO YOUR DUTY ON TUESDAY

There are all too few places in the world where men and women are free to register their choice for public officials as we are next Tuesday. The right of franchise is a sacred privilege, exercising it is a civic duty.

As Friends of B. N. "Bernie" Hanlon we urge you to vote next Tuesday. Only by the votes of the people can competent officials be selected.

We commend the candidacy of B. N. "Bernie" Hanlon for the Republican nomination for City Treasurer to you. We do it because we know his ability, because we know his honesty, because we know him for what he is, a right thinking, high principled citizen.

His training and experience as an accountant qualify him unusually well for the city treasurership. Nominate and elect him and you can be certain the office will be handled efficiently, courteously and honestly.

Again we urge you to vote next Tuesday, and if you believe what we as his friends know to be true, your vote for the Republican nomination for City Treasurer will be for B. N. Hanlon.

New Castle High Rumbles Over Grove City, 38-0

Resounding Season Opener Witnessed By 7,538 Spectators

'Canes Unleash Power-Laden Ground Attack; Razzano, Falk, Lewis, Joseph And Williams Pierce Goal Line; Falk's 58-Yard Dash Following Pass Interception Most Sensational Play; Roussos, Joseph, Preston Star On Line For NC; Razzano's Incredible Drive Wins Applause; Grovers' Double Wing Attack Ineffective.

Football, with its enchanting panorama, made its 1943 debut here on Friday night in grand slam fashion. By the time the giant Taggart stadium lights were dimmed, a promising New Castle high "Red Hurricane" combination had rumbled over a willing but outclassed Grove City aggregation, 38-0. A gratified gallery of 7,538 pew holders saw the unilateral exhibition.

NC scored the first of its half dozen touchdowns during the fading stages of the first stanza after being stopped cold on the Groves' 21. From that marker, the visitors attempted three line thrusts which carried to the 30 for a first down.

"Bill" Labor then dashed around right end and was hit so fiercely that the ball bounced out of his arms. Joe Joseph, 'Cane left guard, pounced on the loose ball on the GC 31.

Lewis Sparks Rally On a reverse through right tackle, Razzano to Lewis, the husky blond fullback darted to the 23 and followed with a center job to the 19. Lewis again drew the lugging assignment on a reverse, with Williams handing cut the oval, and edged 14 yards away from the final stripe.

Tiny Roscoe Williams, a 130-pound speed piece, slipped in a left tackle, opened up, and artistically swung and swayed, being nailed as he crossed the enemy goal line. With McKee holding, Mike Roussos booted the ball between the "H" for the seventh 'Cane point. The locals tallied on four plays.

The schoolboys spent the major part of the second stanza, NC took possession on its 35. With Razzano, Lewis and Williams dividing lugging chores, the 'Canes reached the G. C. 33. Razzano, displaying incredible drive, pushed the leather egg to the 33, whizzing around right end. After Williams lost one, Lewis penetrated to the 10 but fumbled. Harry recovering for the visitors.

Joseph Blocks Scores The sides then swapped an offside and Dunn and Harry failed to move an inch on two line smashes. Dunn next faded back for a punt but old eagle-eye, Joe Joseph, scooted thru and checked the kick. The ball rolled dizzily over the "G. L." Joseph completed the sensational play by toppling on the inflated leather for a "touch." Roussos' placement again was true boosting the local lead, 14-0.

After the impressive halftime bond rally ceremonies, Cicero lifted to Razzano who reached the NC 34. Aided by a resounding block by McKee, Razzano hauled to the 46 and then to the GC 46 on a cut back through right tackle. Lewis bolted to the 32 straight over center and Williams wiggled around left to the 16.

Two line pokes by Razzano and another by Lewis pushed to the visiting one. Lewis easily covered the rest of the distance by plunging over. Roussos' kick was smeared as NC prepared for the kick, ahead, 20-0. The 54-yard scoring march was negotiated in nine ground plays.

Touchdown No. 4 hit the scoreboard after Preston recovered McKee's kickoff fumble on the G. C. 33 and the locals relinquished the ball on the inflated leather. Razzano back and flipped a hand grenade which Williams miraculously caught in a sideways stance on the 50 and legged to the G. C. 27.

Razzano and Williams picked three through left and Razzano, taking the ball from Lewis on a reverse through right tackle, hammered to the 16 behind no interference whatsoever. Lewis tried two jabs over center and was halted. On a perfectly executed delayed buck, Razzano slashed straight down the middle for the payoff score. Roussos muffed the punt after try.

Preston Gets Fumble N. C. tallied twice in the fourth against the thing. Groves' annex, the fifth six pointer during the first half dozen plays. Preston played the way for the scoring shot by recovering Harry's fumble on the G. C. 33 after Newman had hit the carrier. Razzano piled to the 16 off tackle as the period ended.

Razzano and Lewis bucked center to the 8 and Williams scampered to the 5 around left to start the finale. Lewis got within a half yard of paydirt over the middle and Razzano scored with ease, cracking between right tackle and guard. Roussos' kick was too wide. Jim Falk, sub half and a classy track star, pulled the eye-opener of the game near the close when he snatched Harry's pass on the NC 40 and streaked 58 yards to the two before he was pancaked. On two line thrusts Falk went over. Razzano splashed through center for the 39th point, but missed.

Defensively NC was superb, checking a big and willing GC team throughout. The visitors invaded local terrain only once, on a pass interception late in the third. The 'Cane wall was above par. Mike Roussos, Joe Joseph and Preston, a newcomer, drew the plaudits. Newman covered beautifully at right end. Germani, hampered by a leg injury, glittered, nevertheless, as did John Izzo and Tom Sanfilippo.

Tony Razzano, taking over Bob Lee's post, proved a surprisingly capable hand in the hard-to-fill slot. Displaying rare leg power and drive, Razzano ran up 142 yards for the evening. He was a visitor in the GC back consistently on defense, too.

Ted Lewis, trying his hand at full, played a great game, gaining 66 yards. He gave an inkling of developing into a first rate performer. Roscoe Williams unfurled several appealing speed jaunts. Dick McKee's quarterbacking, not to mention timely and precise blocking, was exceptionally sound.

Grove City's double wing attack was pie for the locals. The Smiley-coached eleven found the 'Cane barrier impenetrable and consequently spent the evening trying to halt the local ground attack. "Bill" Labor, a classy back, suffered a severe left foot injury which may sideline him for the season. His second period departure was a serious blow to the G. C. chances.

Cicero, Hummell, Dunn and Harry walked off with top honors for the 'Canes.

New Castle starts defending the class AA WPIAL title it won last season next Friday, facing Beaver Falls on the valley gridiron.

FRITZIE KAYOES VINES IN FIRST

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The boxing records today show another brilliant illustration of what happens when inexperienced youth meets crafty campaigner. The proof was welterweight Fritz Zivic's quick knockout over Vinnie Vines in the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder last night at Madison Square Garden.

Zivic, the veteran Pittsburgher, scored one of the swiftest knockouts of his career when he belted out New York's Vines in 2:04 of the first frame.

Yale Opens Grid Campaign Today

(International News Service) NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 11.—Yale and Muhlenberg left the lid on national intercollegiate football today by playing the first game of the 1943 season.

Both teams are pretty much of a mystery, practically complete as they are with Navy V-12 trainees. Yale, for example, will have a former Harvard man, Big Wayne Johnson, at left half, while the Muhlenbergs have a starter Frank Killian, who played at the Orange Bowl last year as an Alabama guard.

The opening date for Yale gridiron season was set ahead to offset mid-season graduations by Navy men.

Dykes Reportedly Overfed With Sox

Walsh Says Jimmy Wants To Be Excused; Seeking Other Connections

(International News Service Sports Writer) CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—There is growing evidence that Mr. James J. Dykes, the old faith healer of Comiskey Park, is overfed with the state of affairs now prevailing and will ask to be excused at or soon after the close of the present season.

His contract with the White Sox has another year to run but, if Dykes can make another connection it is considered improbable that the club will want to hold him to the document.

Signed Last Year It hurriedly signed him to the thing last year at a time when Dykes was coyly eyeing an expected offer from the Detroit Tigers, the man having become fretful over the singular manner in which his front office functioned.

This offer is unlikely to be renewed, considering the job Steve O'Neill has done with the Tigers, but there doubtless will be others. For one thing, the business manager, Harry Grabner, has little or no contact with the owner, Mrs. Grace Comiskey. He, therefore, to every practical purpose—has little or no authority to act.

To be exact, the only thing he can do is to sign him to the thing, the 10-year contract (specified by the Lou Comiskey will) at $25,000-a-year.

Mrs. Comiskey Boss Briefly, Mrs. Comiskey runs the ball club. She, it seems, seldom consults Grabner. So Dykes, the manager, not very often sees Grabner either. Dykes, similarly, wouldn't be seeing an owner who doesn't see the business manager, this leaving him very little else to do except show up in time for the ball game.

Outside of that, the only sensible course is to stand well back out of harm's way and let nature have its head.

Dickey Leads Yanks' Surge; Pics-Reds Split

New Yorkers Maul Bosox, 9-3; Cardinals Edge Cubs, 2-1; Indians Win Two (International News Service Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A little more than fifteen years ago, a tall, spare lad joined the New York Yankees as a catcher at a salary reputed to be $12,000. He could easily have been a bust, since he was traveling in the swift company of Miller Huggins' clan, but he wasn't. Today, that backstop—Bill Dickey—is burnishing his armor in preparation for appearance in his eighth world series.

Just think of that—eight world series. Behind this bare statement of fact is a long history of achievement piled up by Dickey, of iron hardness in the headlong flight to success of the most consistent baseball club in existence. The 37-year-old catcher, after fifteen years of campaigning, is still busting fences and breaking up ball games.

Playing Great Ball The rone-jawed Dickey has been a dominant factor in the easy logging of the Yankees toward the series. He has absorbed the knowledge of fifteen years of baseball wars, and although he has never held managerial reins, they say he's made a great boss. It is difficult to say whether Dickey will be playing in his last world series in 1943, but the boy from Little Rock, Ark., as quietly staged a magnificent battle on his own.

The pace-setting Yankees advanced a step nearer the pennant yesterday by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 3, with a seven-run rally in the eighth inning. The New Yorkers slashed out a total of 14 hits, including Charley Keller's 26th homer and Bud Metheny's sixth.

The Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 2 and 1 to 0.

Pitchers Mel Harder and Joe Heving combined to handcuff the Tigers with six hits in the first game. Harder being credited with the win. Rookie Hank Edwards' homer in the ninth inning gave the Indians their ninth victory.

That fence-busting outfielder, Stan Musial, connected again yesterday when he lashed out a double in the seventh inning which gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2 to 1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. Hugh Lantier pitched nine-hit ball in chalking up the win, although Claude Passeau, who was charged with the loss, yielded one less safely.

The New York Giants suddenly came to life to thrash the Boston Braves, 10 to 2. The Giants pounded out 15 hits, putting seven of the safeties together in the fifth inning for six runs. Al Javery and Armando Cardoni were the victims of the Giants' uprising—a victory that followed nine defeats in their last ten starts.

Roger Wolf was hopped on for four runs by Washington in the eighth inning last night when the Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 0. Early Wynn held the A's to one hit for the first seven frames to score his 16th win of the year balanced by 11 losses.

Cincinnati split a double-bill with Pittsburgh last night when the Reds picked up the afterpiece, 1 to 0, after the Pirates took the opener, 9 to 6. Eddie Miller, credited with his 14th error of the season, was ejected when he objected too strenuously to the umpire's decision.

The St. Louis Browns picked up a victory last night by stopping the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 2, in the opener of a four-game series. Nelson Potter chalked up his eighth win of the season for the Browns.

Sports Ramblings

Sports hamburger with most everything:—

Recommended:—Sunday's Moose-Lawrence Indies City Baseball League series clash on Mahoning field, Manager "Hoss" Zidow, of the L.I. is toying with the idea of wheeling "Jewie" Coen to the knoll. The game warden, who beat the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition game back in the 20's and maybe before that, maintains that oldtimers can show present day Johnnies a thing or so and claims he'll prove his point. He hopes.

Another "must" event comes up Monday when the United Engineering and Johnson Bronze play the second game of their industrial title series at Gaston Park. Norm Bishara, one of the few softball moundsmen to labor behind a moustache, was and still is among the greatest fingers in the country. He flips for the UEP. His long suit is a swifty that resembles an aspirin when it whizzes by the plate.

Dom Castle Jr., among the most proficient "umps" in the county, is calling 'em again after having his tonsils towed away. Warren, Ohio, which spoiled New Castle's undefeated record last season, bemoans the fact not one of the 52 candidates is a varsity holder. The 'Canes already are pointing for the Ohioans.

Tufts and Holy Cross will play their grid engagement on Sunday, November 21. Yanks in South Africa are overcoming the golf ball shortage by making pellets out of wood. Linetypers nightmare: Cass Kwiknewski is the new 17-year-old Detroit sandlot ace signed by the White Sox.

Peanuts, popcorn and other food vendors in big league parks figure they walk about 15 miles during a doubleheader. One of the football candidates at Bainbridge Naval post is "Bill" DeCorrevont, the famous star from Northwestern. So what item: Boogie Schupp, young pitching star with Louisville, is a cousin of Fred Schupp, old-time Giant ace.

CHAMP JOE BEGINS CAMP TOUR

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Joe Louis begins his service camp tour in Boston where he meets Maj. Bernard Duffy, left, and Lieut. Col. Walter A. Brown. Sergeant Louis plans to continue boxing after the war and would like to meet Billy Conn again. (International)

Cleveland Wants Conn For Fight, Stimson Queried

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, Sept. 11.—Secretary of War Henry Stimson today was asked by Cleveland promoters to permit Billy Conn to meet the winner of the forthcoming Jimmy Bivins-Melio Bettina battle as a war benefit card.

Bob Brickman and Larry Atkins sent the request in which they offered to donate $50,000 to any war relief fund designated by Stimson and to sell $1,000,000 worth of war bonds at the bout. They informed him that they would stage the fight at the Cleveland Arena on Oct. 22nd if Conn, now an army corporal, is permitted to fight.

Indies Can Win Title By Beating Moose On Sunday

Fourth City Loop Series Fracas On Mahoning Diamond Starts At 3

New Castle's 1943 baseball season may slam shut its doors on Sunday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock, on Mahoning field, the Moose club and Lawrence Indies will line up for their fourth game of the City Loop title series.

Triumphant in the first and third games, the Indies annex their first crown in several seasons by whipping the Rodenbaughmen. The Moose bagged the second set, 6-5, behind "Lefty" Ferrante's flimsing. Coen May Hurl Manager "Hoss" Zidow today announced that he may send "Jewie" Coen, who earns his family's chew by serving as game warden, on the knoll. The veteran right-hander still believes he has enough stuff with which to erase the Moose and is determined to prove it.

The southpaw has beaten the Indies four times, including that series contest, and may even the count. Terrific against right-handers, the Indies are a bit perplexed when they confront portside hurling.

In view of the importance attached to the clash, the rival managers will empty their bags of tricks, thus assuring onlookers of one of the classic baseball demonstrations seen this year.

NBFA TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 11.—Seventeen crack amateur teams, including the defending titlist, the Detroit Auto club, were to begin play in the National Baseball Federation tournament at Youngstown today.

The Detroit nine was paired against Royal Oak in the opening round of the sandlot play, while Dearborn drew the only bye. Other contests are Cleveland vs. Baltimore; Dayton vs. Youngstown; Pontiac vs. Waterbury; Atlantic vs. Brooklyn; New York vs. Birmingham; Akron vs. Fort Wayne, and Pittsburgh vs. Baltimore.

Steagles To Play Packers Tonight

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Smokey City fans tonight will see their first glimpse of pro football this season when the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia aggregation makes a stand against the vaunted Green Bay Packers of Wisconsin in an exhibition match at Forbes Field.

More than 15,000 persons are expected to be on hand to watch darling Don Hutson and his National League teammates score an easy victory over the Pennsylvanians.

The Packers have always had a big, fast and powerful squad, and this year seems to be no exception. Although Hutson will be without his partner of yesterday, Cecil Isbell, he may find an excellent facsimile in Tony Canadeo, discharged Navy Air Corps man.

Shortstop Bartell Right Nice Guy

Will To Win, Spirit Hard To Beat; Giant Stars Breaks Wrist

(International News Service Sports Editor) NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The loss of shortstop Dick Bartell by the New York Giants is an insignificant thing, for they aren't going anywhere. It isn't comparable, say, to such a situation as the St. Louis Cardinals losing Slats Marion or the New York Yankees finding themselves without the services of Spud Chandler for the rest of the season. In the extreme, pennant races might be affected by the absence of either of the latter two.

Still Rowdy Richard Bartell is a man worth thinking about for he comes as close to what a baseball player is supposed to be as any ever in the game. He's not the greatest shortstop, nor the greatest hitter the game has seen, or even in the game today. He has always been a notch below excellence in mechanical ability. Not that he isn't good. He's that. But not super-terrific.

Spirit Stands Out However, in the will to win he stands among the few at the very top. He is a hard-fighting, hustling competitor and in his 140 pounds is packed so much fire and enthusiasm that he will be remembered among the most popular players that ever wore a Giant uniform.

They still love him in Philadelphia. Detroit and Pittsburgh, which have been other stops in his baseball wanderings.

Always talkative and hustling, he was the mainstay of his teams. Sometimes he has slumped. Occasionally he has been hurt, but nothing has ever touched his enthusiasm. Every game he plays is played strictly for keeps and that goes too for the ones he played this season with the worst New York Giant team in history. The fact that they were doomed to dismal defeat never figured in his reasoning from day to day. The only thing important to him was to give all he had to each game as it came along.

That makes him a pretty good ball player in anybody's book—what is known as a ball player's ball player—and sets him apart from some others with more skill. Too often these latter lack the stuff of which the Bartells are made.

He's an O. K. guy out there on that ball field—O. K. all the way. He was all ball player on that field—and let us hope he will return next year with the Giants or some club.

Barrow has suggested a change in the method of staging the series this year. In order to lessen the strain on war burdened railroad lines, Barrow has proposed that the first three games, instead of first two, be played in the American League city, and the rest in the National League city. This would eliminate the return to the first city for the sixth and seventh games if necessary.

Lincoln School Reunion Event

School Days Of '90's Are Lived Over Again At South Side School

School days of the late '90's were lived over again September 9 when the 13th annual reunion of the Lincoln school association was held in the old building on Long avenue. About 125 attended, and for a little while the folks present forgot that they had attended the old school between 1881 and 1900 and gave themselves over to the pleasures of reminiscence.

Harry Clark, president of the association, presided over the reunion meeting. A number of speakers were heard, among them Dr. Samuel W. Perry, former Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, William A. Francis and Principal L. C. Black. Dave Lewis directed the pep singing and the crowd enjoyed the old songs. Mrs. Robert E. Fleming accompanied all musical numbers.

A special musical number was a trio composed of Blanche Sheeler Smith, Thomas Phelps and Dave Lewis. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. James N. Rainey, pastor of Central Christian church. Rev. Rainey also conducted the memorial service in which the memory of members who have died in the past year was honored. The list honored included: Clarence Miller, John Krebs, Icy Mikewell, Allie Evans, John Mann, Stewart Jones, David Campbell, Oliver Johnson, John Kerr, Lydia Rowan and Maude White Jones.

A special guest of the evening was Willie Johnson Howell, of New York City, who came to New Castle for the reunion. Because of the food rationing, no lunch was served.

BUTLER SERGEANT MISSING

(International News Service)

High Graduates Enter Colleges

Large Number of New Castle High Classes Of '43 Continue Studies

With colleges having speeded up courses of study and with semesters in many colleges succeeding each other the year round instead of having just two a year as previously, there will not be a concentrated exodus of graduates of the January and June 1943 high school classes off to college during the latter part of September this year. While some are busy packing to get off next week, many have already gone. And several will not go for another month.

Among those enrolled at Westminster were classes began Friday are Joyce Alexander, Nancy Gilliland, Judith McGill, Charlene Black, Carolyn Beck, Gene Wilson, and Thomas Pearce. Josephine Wajert has already completed a semester of work at Westminster.

On September 14, Gene McIlvaine and Edie Norris, of the January class will leave to enter Westminster College, as will also Alice Jones of the June class. On the same date Helen Connery and Margaret Clement will leave to register at Allegheny College, and Nancy Rugh will enter Wilson College.

Caroline Wallace, Arthur Bergland, and William Margraf, all of the June class, have already begun their studies at Carnegie Institute of Technology. The latter two began accelerated courses there last spring before graduation. Russell J. Melvin has been studying at the University of Pennsylvania since the beginning of the summer.

Aaron Cohen, John Gresh, Jacob Schwartz, and Raymond Senior are enrolled at the University of Pittsburgh.

Those enrolled at Penn State are Verna Taylor, Jean McCreary, Anna Giammarini, and Kathleen Angililo.

Clarence Armstrong is also at Penn State.

Enrolled at other colleges are: Madeline Grushetsky at the University of Buffalo; Beverly Mikels at Bethany; Joann Myers at Drexel Institute; Kathryn Duff and Debra Callahan at Seton Hill; Richard D. Scarazzo at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute; Elizabeth Pakken at Oberlin; Barbara Wygant at Grove City; Violet Tobin at Ohio State; Lois Hogue at Youngstown; and Kathleen Schooley at Mt. Galitzen Academy.

Girls who are taking secretarial courses are Ann Higgins and Evelyn DeVivo, of the June class, who registered this week respectively at the Pinkerton School of Business and Robert Morris in Pittsburgh. Marjorie Allen, Shirley Reno, Mary Ruth Ritty, and Ada Marcantili have also registered at Robert Morris.

Patricia Brown, of the January class, will leave next week for New York City to study at Katherine Gibbs.

Those who have entered nurses training from these classes include: Helen Vancouver, Shirley Kennedy, Jo Ann Carmichael, Irene Korpela, Lois Koch, Pauline Burgess, Thelma Cohen, Donna Lou Davis, Edna Jane Johnston, Florence Scriven, Mary Vaughn, Bertha Sullivan, Eleanor Jordan Baron, and Stella Loadjeski.

Frank Sargent, co-ordinator for the City Office of Civilian Defense today stated that while favorable news has come out of Europe there should be no slackening of effort by OGD workers. In speaking of a possible air raid the co-ordinator pointed out that in such an event people should keep cool and second that the safest place is at home. Whether or not a blackout is ordered, don't show more light than is necessary and that if bombs start to fall near you, lie down. The shock won't be so great and fragments and splinters may be escaped. No one should go near a window because glass shatters easily. Strong, capable, calm people are needed to man the volunteer services. "If you want to help, there are lots of opportunities if you join the OGD," he concluded.

Politicians will promise veterans money and soft jobs; a statesman, if any, will promise them the long-tough, self-sacrificing job of rebuilding America.

SENTENCE COURT
Judge John G. Lamoree wound up the cases against the Excelsior (formerly the Savage) hotel on Friday morning when he conducted sentence court. That is, the judge wound them up insofar as the courts of Lawrence county are concerned. Frank Guarneri, manager of the hotel, and Charles Weston and Bert Gormley, who were bartenders, entered pleas in the charges against them and were fined by the court. In the case of Frank Guarneri alone, he was fined $100 and costs on each of the two following counts, unlawful sale of beer and liquor and unlawful sale of beer and liquor to persons on Sunday. The three men were fined $250 jointly on the two following counts, permitting persons of ill repute to frequent the hotel and sale of beer and liquor to visibly intoxicated persons. The total fines amounted to $700 and the costs to $64.32, which were paid. If any further action is taken against the hotel it will come from the State Liquor Control Board. George Williams, assault and battery, was fined $1 and costs and given 35 days to the county jail. Anna King, possessing liquor for the purpose of sale without a license, fined $150 and costs or three months in jail. Emma Madison, possession of liquor for sale without a license, fined $150 and costs or three months in the county jail.

Hollywood Stars Aid Bond Drive

Cavalcade Will Be In Pittsburgh Sunday For Forbes Field Event
(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11. — Final preparations were made here today to welcome the "Hollywood Bond Cavalcade," now on a nationwide tour under the auspices of the treasury department and the war activities committee of the motion picture industry. The Hollywood stars will arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow morning to begin a day of giant bond selling events in connection with the Third War Loan campaign. They will appear in one of the largest parades ever staged locally, riding in open cars driven by members of the AWWV. A $50,000 dinner will be held tomorrow evening followed by the show at Forbes field, highlight of the day, which is expected to net $50,000,000 of the Allegheny county $202,000,000 bond sale quota. The field was sold completely out two days ago, and late bond purchasers could get standing room only.

Style Of Dresses Proves Varied In Spite Of Wartime

WPB Restrictions Do Not Limit Designs Of Ingenious Mainbocher

By JANE COCHRAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Restriction of women's fashions by the government does not mean regimentation of style, Mainbocher, American-born designer who won fame in Paris, declared today—then showed a varied and thoroughly lovely collection of dresses to prove his point.

The very straight dress, he declared, looks excellent in a fashion sketch or on a motionless mannequin with an excellent figure. But on the average woman, walking or seated, it is far from satisfactory, he said. Within the legal WPB skirt limits, his skirts and coats have the width for ease of movement and grace of line. Fullness gathered in the front and back panels, unpressed pleats in the back, two box pleats in the back or a skirt widening of the hem were all used to maintain the impression of slowness yet have their full share of figure flattery.

Simple, With Trimmings
Clothes were simple, yet designed to highlight the simple trimmings of cording, tucking, insets and embroidery. The sweaters, cardigans, dresses up for afternoon wear—a fashion Mainbocher introduced several seasons ago—showed up throughout the collection. Cardigans were trimmed with fur and one black wool. Cardigan had sleeves of mink.

Collars on dresses throughout the collection were high. Dresses often had a high neck and were worn with a small scarf of color wrapped around the throat.

In presenting the collection, the designer presented his creed for wartime clothes for the fall of 1943: "Nowadays, no woman should look as though any fashion ideas were being tried out on her. Women should neither look dressed down or dolled up. Both of these attitudes come from a lack of self discipline," Mainbocher added.

Europeans are as human as we are. We appreciate Russia's help, but not enough to let the Russians tell us how to manage our country.

URGES OBSERVANCE OF ANNIVERSARY
HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Gov. Edward Martin today urged public observance of the anniversary of the national anthem on Sept. 14, while "we Watch Over the Ramparts" as our nation is tested in the crucible of war. The governor declared that since the "Star Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key 129 years ago, "our nation has achieved greatness unparalleled in the history of modern civilization." Uncle Sam will get the boys who buy alcohol at $1 a gallon and sell it as drinking liquor at $40. They won't pay income tax.
